-Occasionally-but only occasionally, thank goodness, one will hear the remark: "I wish I was out of this town," and then one feels like saying, "I wish you were." For a man who stands on the street corner chewing and spitting, telling how the government should be run, cursing the town, finding fault with his grandmother because she was a woman, claiming that the merchants are a lot of thieves, that the lawyers and newsand a whole lot more, is a nuisance and an abomination. Any one pestered with one or more such worthies would be justified in exercising cowhide authority on the bosom of their trousers. No one is obliged to live where he is not suited. If one hasn't an encouraging word for the business enterpirse of his town, he should "go 'way back and sit down." If things don't suit you,go where they will.
